

Miss Irving, Kin of Novelist, and Mr. Grandlund Wed

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Washington Irving of New York a Bride.

Miss Katherine Duer Irving, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Washington Irving of 263 West Eighth street and a member of one of New York's oldest families, was married yesterday in St. Ignace's Church, in West End avenue, to Mr. John Grandlund by Father McCune, the rector.

The bride, who was given away by Rear Admiral Charles S. Williams, U. S. N., her uncle, was attended by the Misses Constance Hall, Frances Grandin and Isabel Robertson. The ushers were Messrs. Gordon Williams and Louis Pintard Bayard, Jr., cousins of the bride. The couple started at once for California, where they will live.

The bride's dress was of white motor satin. Her tulle veil was caught with a coronet of pearls. The bridesmaids wore fire colored crepe de chine with wide panels of cocoa laced lace. Their hair combined the same shades and they carried bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. Grandlund, who lived in New York some time, came from Helmsford and was formerly attached to the Russian diplomatic service. With his wife he abandoned official business life. The bride is a great-granddaughter of the poet-historian, Washington Irving. Her mother was Miss Susan R. Bayard, daughter of Mr. Louis R. Bayard. Her father is a son of the late Lester Irving and a grandson of the Rev. Pierre Irving, who was a brother of the novelist. The Rev. Pierre Irving married a granddaughter of the Duer family in New York. Miss Irving is a cousin of Messrs. Alexander Duer and Louis du Pont Irving.
